HARDY KOREAN HYBRID CHRYSANTHEMUMS

The Korean Chrysanthemums have been proved to be considerably more hardy than the old standard hardy types and are recommended for those who desire this type of Chrysanthemums. They are now produced in most all the colors and supply an abundance of color for early fall gardens. The Retail Florist can safely recommend this type to their retail trade.

SINGLE TYPE

APOLLO. A combination of bronze, red and gold. .

MARS. Deep Amaranth-red.

DAZIRA. White with soft pink shading.

VENUS. Bright clear pink.

ORION. Brilliant canary-yellow.

'MUMS FOR SHADING

The purpose of shading is to force the plants to set buds earlier. 'Mums are classed as a short day plant, thus by covering them with black cloth or paper, that light will not filter thru; about four or five o'clock in the afternoon and removing at seven o'clock in the morning shortens the daylight several hours and considerably hastens their maturity.

This treatment will generally bring them to bloom about one month earlier than their normal flowering season. To obtain these results planting and pinching should be advanced by one month to six weeks. Shading for earliest flowers from earliest varieties should start early in July. Successive plantings may be made every 10 days for continuous blooms until the early 'Mums appear at their normal flowering period.

The varieties listed below have been tried and found to respond well and produce good saleable flowers when grown under shade.
